THURSDAY, MARCH 7, 1907.

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this locality.

4,420

Waterbury came within ten votes of becoming Gin-bury in name.

Old Winter is certainly on the down grade and going faster every day.

In view of the mix-up over the license question, with charges of illegal voting, Middlesex is really Middlesex.

Will the Vermont Champlain tercentenary have its "Cow-path" to correspond to the Buffalo "Midway," the St. Louis "Pike" and the Jamestown "Wap-path"?

THE STATE LICENSE VOTE

The complete returns for the state of Vermont on the local option vote are not yet all received, but the indications point to about the same number of license towns as last year—possibly a few less. In the first flush of the local option law there were 92 towns which in 1903 voted to license the sale of liquor. As normal demands were adjusted, that number was each year reduced, there being 40 in the following year, 32 in 1905, and 29 in 1906. When all the towns have been heard from this year, it is probable that the license communities will number about the same as in 1906. The town of Hardwick has been erroneously placed in the "Yes" column, when the vote should have been reversed, according to the actual fact. The "No" faction won out by a fair-sized margin, and thus Caledonia county keeps up its record of being solidly against license. Lamoille county is also solidly in the no-license column for the first time in four years.

JACK, THE GIANT-KILLER, WINS.

They have been backing away at the political giant in Burlington and have finally cut away his supports. Mayor Burke is down. Whether he is out for good is problematical. It is still the fact, at any rate, that he has a strong following in the lake city, and may patch up the breaches and return to the fight at the first opportunity. It would be better for him not to try it again, it seems to us. He has stayed off his opponents for four years and in the face of bitter arraignment he has put through some of his favorite schemes. He has been given the widest latitude that is accorded a mayor to have in length of service. And now he is beaten, although by only a small margin. He may find some consolation in that; also that he was beaten by a man of sterling worth. Mayor-elect Bigelow is a competent man in every way. His success over Burke is not to be wondered at, in view of the fact also that an office-holder's popularity is almost always in inverse proportion to the length of his service. One other contributory cause for Burke's failure may be traced to the fact that he had no newspaper support in Burlington, and what publicity he got in that way was almost always of an adverse character. (This may in part explain his defeat.)

The Burlington newspaper estimate of him may be perhaps summed up in the following from The News: "It is a great relief to the people of this city who hate bossism to get rid of a man, who, puffed up with power, became offensive even to many of his own followers; and that was his undoing. Mr. Burke leaves us an inheritance of debt and his generally mixed accounts and his unexampled street department. This record of his we will carry as a warning to make no similar experiments in the future."

The gall of defeat is not made any more sweet by these things, and Mayor Burke now has a chance to show that he is a good loser as well as a good fighter. He appears to have started out with that idea in view, for he said in reply to a question if he thought there had been any crooked work: "No, sir, everything was fair and square." And then, "One can't win all the time." Good for the "blacksmith mayor," for his sand in defeat!

JINGLES AND JESUS.

A Psalmist.
Spring is coming! What's the use?
The shaking of the dice—
Sup on a banana peel.
Instead of on the ice.
—New York Sun.

A Matter of Location.
Nan—How's this for a picture hat?
Far—It's good enough for the comic supplement.—Chicago Tribune.

As Usual.
"Oh, doctor, could I only die!"
The suffering patient cried.
The doctor said, "I'll do my best."
And soon the patient died.
—Lippincott's Magazine.

The Vernacular.
Ascend—Does he own an automobile?
Tellum—No, but he can talk it.
—Harper's Weekly.

Much Ado About Nothing.
"This ring, my love, you'll comprehend,
Is like my love—it hath no end."
"Ah, yes," she said, with smile so winning,
"And like mine, too—without beginning."
—New York Life.

A Mean Retort.
"He said he would die for me."
"He must be dead easy."
—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Human Perversity.
If life were all one grand, sweet song,
As poets wish that it might be,
A lot of men with voices strong
Would still be singing off the key.
—Washington Star.

COLLEGE AND SCHOOL.

Returns of the Yale postoffice show that it is now an office of the "second class" size and does a business about equal to that of a city of 15,000 population.

The trustees of the College of William and Mary have commissioned Messrs. Cady & See, architects of New York, to prepare plans for a new library building to house about 30,000 volumes.

Thirty-one new men, seventeen of them college graduates, have entered the class of '07 at Yale this year to get the Yale B. A. They come from all quarters, have little money and intend to teach.

Although in his seventy-eighth year, Lois Lewis still remains the head of the physical culture department of Girard college, Philadelphia. He is probably the oldest physical director in the country.

THE COOKBOOK.

For seasoning soups try one ounce of long pepper and always seal it in boiling water and drain before adding to the soup.

Put a lump of sugar in with the green vegetables you are about to boil, and it will greatly improve their flavor and also retain their color.

In roasting a fowl each time after basting dredge with flour. The flour will cook in the hot fat, forming a frothy looking coating much desired by epicures.

Eggs used for covering croquettes may be the whole eggs or the whites only. Never use the yolks alone. Beat the eggs until broken, not until light. Add one tablespoonful of water for each white or two tablespoonfuls for a whole egg. Mix well and use.

GLEANINGS.

At present the exiles form only 8 or 9 per cent of the population of Siberia. Holland has 10,100 windmills, each draining at an annual cost of 25 cents an acre 210 acres of ground.

Siamese children of the upper classes are taught to reverse the elbow joint of the left arm as a sign of superiority.

Hungary uses more charcoal than any other European country. Its annual consumption is about 2,000,000 tons.

Fort McHenry, near Baltimore, one of the oldest and most historic army posts in the country, is to be abandoned. Its antique guns will be dismantled and the post left in charge of a civilian caretaker.

A commission of which Secretary Taft is president has selected a site at Connecticut avenue and N street, one of the best in Washington, for the statue to the poet Longfellow. Congress has appropriated $4,000 for the pedestal for this statue.

The Scrap Book

Literary Obsequies.

A young teacher who graduated from the normal school last June was asked one day recently to act as a substitute in a higher grade than her own. She was a little nervous over the temporary promotion and was anxious that everything should go off in the usual good order. While instructing the class in composition she said: "Now, children, don't attempt any flights of fancy. Don't try to imitate the things you have heard, but just be yourselves and write what is really in you."

As a result of this advice one little boy turned in the following composition: "I ain't goin' to attempt no flights of fancy; I'm just goin' to write what's in me, and I got a goat, a liver, two lungs and some other things like that; then I got a stumminck, and it's got in it a plectle, a piece of pie, two sticks of peppermint candy and my dinner."

Women's Reasons.

Women have more of what is termed good sense than men. They cannot reason wrong, for they do not reason at all. They have fewer pretensions, are less implicated in theories and judge of objects more from their immediate and involuntary impression on the mind and therefore more truly and naturally.—Hasslet.

A DEED AND A WORD.

A little stream had lost its way
Amid the grass and fern.
A passing stranger, scooped a well,
Where weary men might turn.
He walked it in and hung with care
A ladle at the brink;
He thought not of the deed he did,
But judged that all might drink.
He passed again, and lo, the well,
By summer never dried,
Had cooled ten thousand parching
tongues
And saved a life beside.

A nameless man amid a crowd
That thronged the daily mart,
Let fall a word of hope and love,
Unstudied, from the heart;
A whisper from the tumult thrown,
A transitory breath,
It raised a brother from the dust,
It saved a soul from death.
O form, O fount, O word of love,
O thought at random cast,
Ye were but little at the last,
But mighty at the last!
—Charles Mackay.

"UNIVERSAL"
COFFEE PERCOLATOR

Makes better coffee because it does not require boiling water. All other percolators do. It is boiling water that causes the bitterness, destroys the flavor and brings out the unwholesome properties of the coffee bean.

In less than one minute after heat is applied the automatic valve at the base of the tube forces the water—like warm, not boiling—up the tube on to the coffee in the filter cap, percolating through into the pot beneath.

It is by this method of constantly forcing the water through the coffee, while it gradually increases in temperature, that only the wholesome and nourishing elements of the coffee bean are extracted.

By the time the boiling point is reached the coffee is ready to serve—rich in strength and aroma, for they have not been lost in steam—free from bitterness, for it has not been boiled.

Made of pure aluminum, four sizes, $3.50 up. "Elite" enamel ware, colors, light blue and sage green, $4.50 up.

F. G. HOWLAND, Treas.

"Every Man is an Actor."

Mr. Bert Walworth, of the B. C. Whitney "Isle of Spice" company, says that "every man is an actor." A rhymester on the Denver Republican has expanded the same theme into the following amusing verses:
Smith never faced the footlight's glare
And never heard applause;
His name will never figure as
A cognomen that draws;
But when he calls upon a girl
And whispers low her name,
He's acting out a little part—
He's acting, just the same.

Jones rests all comfy in a seat
Upon a crowded car;
A woman clings unto a strap,
And she must travel far;
But when he seeks so busily
He cannot see this dame,
He's acting out a little part—
He's acting, just the same.

Brown goes to church on Sabbath morn—
Six days he's planned and schemed,
And he has gained much tainted coin
With pledges unredemmed;
And when he puts a gold piece on
The plate and shows no shame,
He's acting out a little part—
He's acting, just the same.

And so it goes, from day to day,
Upon the stage of life;
With little parts that are not true
This play of ours is rife;
And he who swears he never acts,
But always lives the game,
Is acting out a little part—
He's acting, just the same.

Belgium's Fruit.

In ordinary seasons the kingdom of Belgium, which is not larger than the state of Maryland, after supplying a population of 500 to the square mile, exports 105,000,000 pounds of fruit.

Telegraphy.

A telegraphic line consisting of twenty-four wires, each representing a letter, was established by Lesage at Geneva in 1774, and in the same year Bishop Watson made experiments over 10,000 feet of wire near London. In Germany the invention is credited to Sommering—1800.

See Soule.

Each hive of bees possesses an intelligence department which sends out scouts to discover where honey and other good things are to be gathered.

How Much Could You Get
For Your Farm?

You are a farmer. You live near this town. You own land. Let us say that you own more than you need and would like to sell a hundred acres.

How much could you get per acre?

Land values have risen lately. But has the value of your land risen as you think it should?

Your land is good land. You think it is worth considerably more than anybody has offered you. Well, let us see.

A man buying farm land naturally prefers to locate near a thriving up to date town. He wants good home markets for his crops. He wants good schools.

Let us say your land is three miles from town. A farm that looks very much like yours is three miles from a town twice as big and twice as prosperous as this town.

If you were going to buy a farm for your own occupancy, wouldn't you pay a whole lot more for land near the town that is twice as large and twice as lively?

Of course you would. It would be good business. Now, what makes a town big and bustling? Money. Money in circulation. Not in circulation in Chicago, for instance, but eight in the town that wants to grow.

How much money have you sent to the big Mail Order houses in the city the past ten years? How much have your neighbors sent? How much have all of you together put out of circulation here at home?

It is probably beyond calculation. If all that money had been spent in your own home town, isn't it reasonable to assume that the town would have grown more than it has grown?

Wouldn't this town be a bigger and better town?

Wouldn't it have more stores to buy your produce?

Wouldn't it have more public improvements to make it more attractive to outsiders who might come here to live, to go into business, or buy your surplus land at a good figure?

TO TRADE AT HOME MEANS TO HELP THE TOWN AND THE NEIGHBORHOOD. TO HELP THE TOWN AND THE NEIGHBORHOOD MEANS TO HELP YOURSELF.
